HAVE YOU A PERSONALITY?

Ask the first dozen people you meet what personality is and you will get a dozen different answers. I do not know for sure but I strongly suspect that your personality is the chief cause of your success or failure in whatever life work you may have selected.

Personality cannot be defined in one word. It is the sum total of those qualities which disinguish you from every other person on earth. The clothes you wear form a part of your personality, but not all of it. Your facial expression forms a part of your personality, but neither is it your whole personality. The words you speak form one of the numerous lights and shades which blend into one another and constitute your personality. Your voice constitutes another one of these lights and shades. The schooling you have received forms still another one of these lights and shades. The manner in which you shake hands forms a part of your personality.

An attractive personality may be described generally as one that draws people to you and causes them to find companionship in your company, while an unattractive personality is one that causes people to want to get as far away from you as possible.

An attractive, magnetic personality usually may be found in the person who speaks gently and kindly, selecting words which do not offend; who selects clothing of appropriate style, varying in colors that properly harmonize; who is unselfish and willing to serve others; who is a friend of all humanity, regardless of weath and creed, nationality, or color; who refrains from speaking unkindly of those who are not present; who manages to converse without being drawn into argument or trying to draw others into argument or idle gossip; who seeks the good there is in people and overlooks the bad; who seeks neither to reform or reprimand others; who smiles frequently and deeply; who loves children, flowers, birds, the growing grass, the trees, the running brooks and the open air; who sympathizes with those who are in trouble; who forgives acts of unkindness; who willingly grants to others the right to believe as they choose regarding politics and religion; who earnestly strives to be constructive in every thought and act; who encourages others and spurs them on to greater effort in some useful work for humanity.

Yes, every now and then we run across a person of this kind and we say-"WHAT A WONDERFUL PERSONALITY."

The house yesterday devoted its time to consideration of several minor matters, following the adopting of the report of the investigating committee charges against the state highway department.

The senate yesterday passed the house bill appropriating one hundred thousand dollars for the use of the state in purchasing a site to be given the federal government for the erection of a hospital for disablea soldiers.

Soldier Relief Bill Passed.

Two soldier relief bills carrying a combined appropriation of $750,-000.00 were passed by the house of the legislature at its morning session today. One is the measure providing for the erection, at Sulphur, of a hospital for disabled soldiers and the other provides for the erection of a hospital in Oklahoma City, for the use of war veterans. The bill authorizing the construction of a hospital at Suphur creates also a soidier's relief committee, to be appointed by the legislature and the American legion.

The house adopted the report of the investigating committee asking the governor to remove George F. Short, assistant attorney general on the ground that he also was an employe of a private corporation. The question of adjournment was disposed of for the present, when the house voted to postpone indefinitely consideration of the senate as the date for adjournment.

Black-Draught, Long in Successful Use, Praised by an Arkansas Mother, "Soon Does Its Work."

Marmaduke, Ark.-Speaking of Thedford's Black-Draught, which from long use in her household has become regarded as "the family medicine," Mrs. Mary E. Hill, of Route 1, this place, says:

"When the children get bilious, I give them a couple of good doses, and when we have sour stomach, headache, or any liver or stomach troubles we use Black-Draught. It is an easy laxative, and soon does the work. I certainly think it is one of the best remedies made."

Black-Draught acts on the jaded liver, gently, but positively, and helps it in its important function of throwout waste materials and poisons from the system. In thousands of households Black-

Draught is kept handy for immediate use in time of need. Prompt treatment often is half the battle, and will often prevent slight ills from developing into serious troubles. Its well-established merit, during

PROPHETS OF OLD.

The Ten Commandments are disconcertingly personal. They do not say, "It is undesirable that there should be stealing," but "Thou shalt not steal." They do not say, "It would benefit society if morality were more commonly observed," they say, "Thou shalt not commit adultery."

Large is the effort to soften down this rude personal directness. As for the individual sinner, he or she is assumed to be more to be pitied than blamed; the responsibility is upon "Society."

It seems to be necessary in every age to invent a scapegoat for our own sins.

Our fathers found the evil a convenience in this regard; we comfort ourselves with the fact that "Society" is responsible.

This was not the way the old prophets did it.

Nathan did not say to David, "An exceedingly unfortunate condition has arisen, and a situation exsts for whch widespread social conditions must be held chiefly responsible, but which, I regret to say, is liable to work harm, by indirection, to the royal government," he said, "Thou art the man."

That was what caused David to rise from his throne and clothe himself with sackcloth, and cry, "Have mercy upon me, O God."

The old prophets were very personal; they were terribly rude. But their rudeness was effective; and David was too sensible a man, and fundamentally too just a man, to do do not have to pay lumber dealers of the company's offices through- put a fleet of seaplanes in use beother than admit his wrong.

Warden Preston E. Thomas, of the Ohio State penitentiary gives us an interesting angle of the disease called gossip, ducts, that's co-operation. And we wonder if his statement that "they have nothing record by a majority of nearly 300 else to do" doesn't offer the explanation of all gossip. The in favor of the proposition. The worst gossips you know are those who have least to do. Their civic bodies in the city and was put world is usually circumscribed by the confines of their home up in the form of an amendment and their own imagination. Woman generally has been held up to ridicule for generations because of her propensity to gossip and we probably have persecuted her unjustly. It's not the woman who takes care of her family, who loves and keeps her house in order, who does the gossiping, nor yet the woman who is active in affairs for community betterment, but the sister who lives a parasitical life, with law and will be reafter election" little else to do-but gossip-

Of course, it's the same with men. The personage who spends his time on the street corners, or loafing in stores is the only state in the union which naturally must talk about something, and as he doesn't read enough to discuss events of any magnitude, he takes it out on his neighbors. The Lord deliver us.

Civilization Moves Along.

Civilization moves forward slowly, but it moves forward just the condemned criminals

We cite this as an indication that civilization is moving forward. Utah used lead intead of electricity to exact an eye for an eye and a tooth

The advance of civilization can largely be traced by the modes of capital punishment. The cross, the giliotine, the knout, the wheel, the axe, the gun, the hangman's noose and finally the electric chair.

Some day, in the dim and distant future, people will look back upon them all as barbaric and landmarks of an ancient civilization. However, that time will be when men do not slay their fellow men. None of us will live to witness this heavenly state or affairs. Mc-Alester News-Capital.

Students Take Hike.

One of the most delightful and pleasant school events of the Normal for the season was the hike taken by the senior-prep class and their invited guests yesterday after noon. They left the school at 4 p. m. and hiked to the lake. There a splendid lunch was served and all attention was turned to having a jolly good time. After spending a pleasant hour at the lake they returned to the city, arriving home about 6:30.

All of those who did not have other engagements were taken by Miss Inez Marsh to her home at 927 East Ninth street where an enjoyable evening was spent in making candy and visiting. HEMP HAT SHOWS ODD FEATHER TRIM

A new hat is the magic wand for disclosing the hidden beauties of a demure face. That a hat may make or break a woman is no new theory, and with the present prices it is very likely to do both. Here is a stunning new model which is the last word in simplicity and chicness. It is a large blue hemp model with a double brim rolling upward all the way around. The trimming is an arrangement of gray coque feathers which are fastened to the crown and drawn through a slit in the brim. falling down over the shoulder. This method of letting trimming fall from the underneath side of the hat is the very newest fad.

AGNEW'S CUSTOM MILL

Five years ago John Agnew, began in a small way, in Ada, in the Milling business. How well he has succeeded is shown in the large modern mill that is now being op-

Mr. Agnew was joined in business early last spring by Mr. O. A. Woods, from Vanoss, Okla., where he was connected with several businesses for a number of years.

The mill is located at 215 N. Constant Ave., phone 3. The mill is in a large frame building, 40x48, and the owners are contemplating putting on an addition to the building, besides installing several thousand dollars worth of machinery in the near future.

Messrs. Agnew and Woods handle all kinds of dairy and poultry feed, fresh corn meal, from hand picked corn, whole wheat graham flour, and also handle all kinds of sack feeds. This business concern, specializes in flour and handles several lines of high grade, including the well known "Heliotrope."

Mr. Agnew came to Ada over five years ago, when the town wasn't near as large as it is at the present time. He lived in and near Stratford, Okla. for a number of years and was engaged in dairying and farming and has had the training that makes him an excellent business man in his line of business, and he found Ada a good location for his mill. Mt. Agnew signifies his faith in the future of the city by erecting a modern home at 601 North Beard Avenue.

As mentioned before this company starting in a small way, has at all times endeavored to give its customers the very best service possible, and by fair dealing and efficient service, has established a permanent and growing trade that extends over the city and far out into Ada's trade territory.

To many American girls life is often a heavy drag in consequence of illness, and every mother should heed the first manifestations, such as cramps, backaches, headaches and nervousness as Mrs. Hendrick did for her daughter, and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For over forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been relieving women of just such troubles.

POLITICAL CRISIS FACED IN ENGLAND

crisis of the first magnitude has been created by the retirement of A. Bonar Law from the British Cabinet, it is declared by the London Times. Other newspapers, while less emphatic, agree in saying that Mr. Bonar Law's resignation is certain to have considerable political effect and that it probably will materially weaken the coalition government. It is pointed out that no successor to Mr. Bonar Law is likely to work so well with Prime Minister Lloyd George and the Graphic even suggests that if Mr. Lloyd George is called upon to face a prospect of unsmypathetic association he may find the strain of office intolerable and will follow Mr. Bonar Law into retirement. Suggestions have been made in some quarters that Mr. Lloyd George himself take command of the Unionist party, which constitutes the bulk of his forces in Parliament. The London Times remarks regarding this feature of the situation that the Unionists as a whole, while willing to make every use of him, are most jealous of his power.

Mr. Bonar Law is a widower and lost his two sons in the war. An intimate friend played chess with him Wednesday evening and suspected nothing, but a specialist who examined him on Thursday morning ordered him to quit work or face the gravest risks. He will leave for the Riviera by sea, possibly today, accompanied by his daughter, and will remain abroad a couple of months.
